WINERY INFO:

Foxen is named in memory of William Benjamin Foxen, an English sea captain and our co-founder Dick Doré's great-great-grandfather, who came to Santa Barbara in the early 1800s. In 1837 this Santa Barbara County pioneer purchased Rancho Tinaquaic, a Mexican land grant that originally totaled nearly 9,000 acres and comprised most of what is now known as Foxen Canyon. Captain Foxen adopted the distinctive "anchor" as his ranch cattle brand, and the winery has adopted it as our trademarked brand. It is very fitting that Foxen has made its home on the 2,000-acre Rancho Tinaquaic, which remains in family hands.

Vogelzang Vineyard is located in the Happy Canyon AVA of Santa Barbara County and was planted in 1998 by Jeff Newton and Ben Merz. This unique area is the perfect growing climate for Bordeaux varietals. Because of its location in the most south-eastern corner of the Santa Ynez Valley, the morning fog burns off earlier than the rest of the valley, providing the much-desired longer day of heat. The late afternoon marine winds quickly cool the area. In addition to the advantage of these weather patterns, the gravelly loam soil is strewn with rock and rubble contributing to the low vigor and proper drainage.
